

No Time for Jury Duty, But War Dead

Have No Time at All

A self-important man protested to a judge in Pittsburgh, Pa., this week that he couldn't do jury duty because, (1) it would cost him $100 a week, and (2) interfere with his plans to go hunting.

And if compelled to serve he vowed to the judge he would:

1. Never vote again.
2. Never give money to any charity.
3. Never take part in any civic improvement project.

The Associated Press dispatch of November 2 from which I have taken these facts then reports the judge spoke as follows:

"It is the opinion of this court and you are not a good citizen and we don't want you as a juror. Now you can highball it out of the courtroom and enjoy your hunting and your $100 a week while other citizens perform the duties you are shirking."

Our pompous and ill-tempered citizen thereupon slunk out of the courtroom like a whipped dog, and since his name was broadcast to the world in the original AP dispatch I imagine he will find out soon enough what his fellow citizens and associates think about a man who wants to live under the protection of a republic and the democratic processes of law but refuses to meet his just obligation as an American.

It is a little thing asked of him—mere jury duty—at a time when the youth of our country are still being dratted to maintain our armed defense against alien enemies. All that was asked of this man was a little of his time; but they have no time left whatsoever who went to Korea and didn't come back.

Equal justice under law is the foundation of our American republic, and the cornerstone of that foundation is a jury-selection system which embraces all citizens evenly willy, or when a man's time comes he has an obligation which is as inescapable as the defense of his country.

Ex-Truman Aid Was Spy Says Brownell

CHICAGO (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell said today that Harry Dexter White, assistant secretary of the treasury in the Truman administration, was a Russian spy, but was kept in the government even after the FBI reported this to the White House.

The attorney general charged that "in the face of this information" President Truman advanced White to the important position of executive director for the United States in the International Monetary Fund.

Brownell described Truman's actions in the matter as "incredible." "I don't recall that such a thing happened," the former president said in Kansas City when informed of Brownell's remarks, "as soon as we found out that White was wrong we fired him."

Mr. Truman then added that the administration is "desperate." "There is a desperate effort to offset what has happened in New York and New Jersey," he said, "and they'll stop at nothing, lies or anything else, to accomplish their purpose. They're scared. They're desperate."

Brownell presented an extensive outline of White's associations with the last Democratic administration in a speech prepared for the Executive Club of Chicago.

He asserted that "it is a source of humiliation to every American that during the period of the Truman administration the Communists were so strikingly successful in infiltrating the government of the United States."

This, he said, had left to the Eisenhower regime a "very difficult task" of weeding out subversive elements from the federal payroll.

White came into the government during the Roosevelt administration. He died Aug. 15, 1948.

In recent years, White's name has come repeatedly into congressional investigations of subversive influences.

Elizabeth Bentley, who has asserted that she once worked as courier for a Communist spy ring in Washington, named White at one time as an alleged participant in the ring.

Brownell recounted that White, holding numerous degrees from leading universities of the country, entered government service in 1931 and steadily progressed upward until by 1945 he was one of the most important men in the United States government.

This services included duties with the Tariff Commission, the Treasury Department and the Export-Import Bank.

Snowstorms Spread Carpet Across U. S.

By The Associated Press
Early November snowstorms spread a carpet of white across wide areas along the Eastern Seaboard and in the nation's midlands today.

The first northeaster of the season, erupting suddenly yesterday, swept up the Middle Atlantic Coast spreading a band of snow from the mountains of South Carolina low southern New England.

The snow diminished during the night in some areas. But there were up to 10 inches at Colby, Kan., and more than 6 inches on the ground in other sections of Kansas and in Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Maryland.

The snow turned to rain or sleet in some sections of the two widely separated storm belts, increasing the already hazardous driving conditions on streets and highways.

Transportation, both by air and highway, was sharply curtailed, especially in the Eastern storm belt. Scores of persons were stranded on Eastern highways in some rural areas. There were traffic jams in the cities.

Rain freezing drizzle and snow hit Great Plains areas today from Oklahoma northward through the Dakotas.

Rain and snow also was widespread in the northeast part of the country as far south as Virginia and westward into Ohio.

Strong north to northeast winds whipped the falling snow into drifts in the rural areas. It was chilly and the winds and snow fashioned a wintry setting.

The cool air extended all the way from the Rockies to New England and into the South with the exception of southern Florida.

Crosby Ordered to Answer Questions

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bing Crosby has been ordered to show cause Nov. 16 why he should not answer questions he declined to answer yesterday in a deposition concerning a two-car crash in which he was involved Oct. 11.

Crosby answered most questions put to him yesterday by Edgar Simon, lawyer representing three persons who were in the other auto, and who are suing him for $1,051,400 damages.

But, on the advice of counsel, Bing declined to tell with whom he talked and dined at him previous to the crash. Crosby and his attorneys refused to discuss the deposition.

Simon told newsmen that Crosby admitted having three or four Scotch-and-water drinks before and after dinner, and that he sipped a half glass of champagne during the meal.

The suit, filed by Frank Verdugo, a city fireman; his wife, Lucy, and her brother, Eulalio Perez, alleges that Crosby was under the influence of intoxicating liquors when his $12,250 Mercedes-Benz sports car and theirs collided.

Municipal League Would Bar Write-ins

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Municipal League today voted to seek revision of state election laws to prohibit any write-in balloting.

Delegates to the League's convention here took note of the defeat of several regular nominees, whose names were printed on the ballots by candidates whose names were written on the ballots at last Tuesday's municipal elections.

The League adopted a resolution saying: "It is the feeling of this body that the write-in of candidates for any office is not proper and that any persons seeking a public office should be willing to come forward prior to election and state his position and thereby give the voters an opportunity to observe his qualifications. . . . If the laws need to be strengthened to prohibit such write-ins, this should be carried out by the League."

Barber Board Member Named

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—G. M. Hopper of Forrest City was appointed to the State Barber Examiners' Board by Gov. Cherry today.

He succeeds W. L. Hopkins of Texarkana, whose resignation was requested by the governor after legislative auditors reported irregularities in the board's accounts.

One vacancy still exists on the board as a result of the resignation of Raymond Ford, Springdale. Ford's resignation also was asked by the governor.

'For Better or For Worse', You Know That Preacher Meant Exactly What He Said

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Sixteen years ago today an odd thing happened to my wife.

I married her. We thought the preacher had become mixed up when he asked Frances if she would take me "for better, for worse."

But in the years since then my wife has often found occasion to muse, "You know, I think that minister meant exactly what he said. He was probably trying to warn me before it was too late what life with a newspaperman would be like."

"Well, what is it like?" I ask, and she says, "Oh, it's rather like building a home in a roller coaster. You don't know whether you're having fun . . . Or just getting dizzy. But you sure never have a settled feeling."

"Would you rather I worked in a bank?"

"Well, I'd at least have the consolation of knowing where you were," says Frances. "If you handled the bank's money like you do your own, you'd be in nice warm prison, and I could bring you cookies every month."

The subject of money has come up between us several times in the last 16 years, partly, I suppose because of the way I frittered away her dowry.

Frances arrived here from the Ozarks with a $100 cashier's check, which she had brought along to pay her railroad fare back home in case she came to her senses and changed her mind about marrying me. I had never seen a girl with that much money. And I guess it did rather go to my head. I could hardly wait until she cashed the check.

As soon as I got my hands on the dough I let her know she wasn't betting married to cheap linens but a man with the real "Diamond Jim" Brady spirit. I bought her a six-bit dinner five courses in those days, took her to the best movie on Broadway, and gave her a garden hose.

Frances was visibly impressed. But she was even more visibly distressed when I informed her that the rest of her $100 dowry would have to finance the wedding, as I was between paydays.

"In Missouri I'm sure the bridegroom at least pays for the marriage license," she whispered, as the clerk peered out the window.

"You're in the big city, now, honey," I said, reaching for her pocketbook.

The wedding was tasteful but simple—as befitted my child bride's dowry. We didn't have organ music as that cost $5 extra. Feeling we ought to save something for a nest egg, I also opposed forking out $2 for altar candles but rances balked.

"I don't want the church so dark I can't even see what I'm getting," she said. "It would be like getting married in Braille."

We blew our 20 guests to a wedding reception-dinner in a small but adequate Italian basement restaurant. What a gay mad evening it was. . . . Spaghetti twining over everybody like maddened ivy vines. . . . Cheap red wine flowing like champagne. The Rockefellers, I bet, never had a wedding reception like that one.

And then I toted my bride, flushed with happiness, across the threshold of my tiny $30 a month Greenwich Village apartment. The furniture consisted of a table, an icebox, a stove, two chairs one broken, an old iron lamp and bed-springs that rested on 16 red bricks.

"It's really picturesque—I'll have to have to think of it as picturesque or go crazy," said my new wife, and then added, "I wonder how mama and papa are."

When people ask Frances now where we spent our honeymoon, she still laughs—a trifle deliciously.

"Honey-moon?" she asks. "Listen, the day after Rover ambushed me at the altar," asked him for some of my corny money to buy some groceries. He said it was all gone, he wouldn't be paid until the next day, and we would have to eat what was in the icebox."

"You know what was in the icebox? loaf of bread and two bottles of milk. So we had nothing but bread and milk for two days. There wasn't even any butter."

Well times picked up some in the years that followed. But whenever I ask rances what she would like have as a wedding anniversary, she laughs and says: "Just give me back my $100 and my common sense."

But after 16 years she knows it's too late.

Extended Forecast
For Nov. 6-10:
Arkansas—Temperatures will average 2.4 degrees above normal. Normal minimum 38-45. Normal maximum 62-74. Slow rising trend. Precipitation heavy. Showers over the weekend.

Way Cleared on St. Lawrence Job

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today cleared the way for construction of the St. Lawrence River power project by the State of New York and the Canadian Province of Ontario.

The President signed an executive order designating the power authority of New York State as the United States partner in construction of the project.

The Canadian government already has designated the Hydro-electric Power Commission of Ontario as its agency.

Eisenhower also set up, under today's order, the U. S. section of the St. Lawrence River Joint Board of Engineers. He named Secretary of the Army Stevens and the chairman of the Federal Power Commission as the American members.

U. S. Fires 484 Bad Risk Workers

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department has fired 306 American employees and 178 foreign employees as security risks since the Republicans came to power.

The security cases are over and above economy layoffs. The State Department has been engaged in a major reduction in force during the past several months.

The White House announced Oct. 23 that 1,456 government employees had been cut off the federal payroll since May 27 under Mr. Eisenhower's new executive order covering security among government employees.

The department explained yesterday it had been operating "within the spirit" of Mr. Eisenhower's new security program since Jan. 20 although the program actually went into effect last May 27.

The Eisenhower program calls for the dismissal of any employee who might "act contrary to the best interests of national security."

It is aimed at homosexuals, alcoholics and "blabbermouths" as well as Communists and Red sympathizers.

The State Department was the second agency to announce its part of the total security dismissals. Previously the post office department said 106 of its employees had been fired or forced to resign as security risks.

GOPs Believe California to Go Democratic

By REX CHANEY
WASHINGTON (UP)—Republican political strategists said today they won't be surprised if California follows the lead of Wisconsin and New Jersey and elects a new Democratic congressman next week.

The special California election, which will be held in the Los Angeles area Tuesday, was called to select a successor for Rep. Norris Paulson, a Republican who resigned from the House earlier this year after being elected mayor.

Republicans here, who asked not to be identified by name, said there were two principal reasons for their pessimism about the outcome of the California voting:

1. Two Republicans, Glenard Lipscomb and John E. Collier, who are well known locally as seeking Paulson's former seat, Democrats are fairly solidly behind a third candidate, George Arnold, although there is another Democratic candidate, Irving Markheim, in the race. The Republicans think their candidates may get a bigger combined vote than the Democrats, but that neither of their men will get as many votes as the leading Democrat.

The candidate with the highest number of votes will be elected, regardless of whether he has a majority.

2. The "trend" already demonstrated in Wisconsin and New Jersey, where Republicans lost in recent congressional elections in districts that are usually considered safely Republican.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall acknowledged in a radio interview Wednesday night that the GOP is worried about the California contest. "The situation is tough," he said, adding that "it seems that every test that comes up now is a rugged one as far as the Republicans are concerned."

Democrats, on the other hand, are optimistic about the outlook in California.

Rep. Harry R. Sheppard, dean of the Democratic delegation from California, said he expects Arnold, the Democratic candidate with party organizational support, to win. Sheppard said he bases his prediction wholly on the "local situation and not on any 'trend' toward the Democrats."

Both Republican candidates are state assemblymen at present. Lipscomb has been endorsed by the state and national Republican organizations, but Collier is expected to get a substantial vote.

Three Persons Killed in Crash Near Emmet, Six Others Critically Hurt

Brownell in Attack on U. S. Commies

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Eisenhower administration has swung behind the Communists-in-government issue with a bang, in a move Democrats described as an effort to offset Republican defeats at the polls.

In Chicago yesterday Atty. Gen. Brownell asserted that former President Truman promoted the late Harry Dexter White in government after the FBI had notified the White House that White was a Soviet spy.

The charge, bitterly denied by Truman, apparently was the first move of a new administration political offensive.

Brownell's action was approved in advance by Eisenhower and followed by only two days a declaration by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) that Republicans could blame their election defeats on failure to talk about Communists in government.

Within two hours after Brownell's speech was released yesterday, Rep. Simpson (R-Pa) was saying in a mimeographed statement that the Eisenhower administration will urge "still more intensive efforts" by McCarthy and the House Un-American Activities Committee to uncover Communist infiltration into government.

Declares New Farm Policy to Be Okay

MADISON, S. D. (UP) Sen. Karl E. Mundt said today that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has pledged himself to full farm parity and believes a new farm policy, now in the making, will soothe worried farmers.

The agriculture secretary was also quoted as saying that his farm policy is identical with that of President Eisenhower.

The South Dakota Republican senator said he received a letter yesterday from Benson in which the cabinet member said present farm legislation should be altered with the goal of "attaining full parity in farm prices."

Mundt said that President Eisenhower had backed full parity in a crucial speech at the National Cornucopia Convention at Kankakee, Ill., during the 1952 presidential campaign.

Benson's views, Mundt said, applied only to such farm products as grains and not to the sagging livestock industry.

The senator quoted Benson's letter as saying that many farmers' fears will be "allayed" when the secretary makes his recommendations to Congress in January.

"The proposals on which we are working give promise of maintaining or raising farm income while serving to mitigate some of the difficulties which now beset us, such as the loss of markets, the accumulation of excess reserves, and the problem of diverted acres," the letter said.

Mundt said Benson wrote that "the farmers must receive their fair share of the national income."

The secretary of agriculture wrote there is only one agricultural policy in the present administration and "that is the view held by the president, which I fully support."

Men Trained to Defuse A-Shells

By ELTON CL FAY
WASHINGTON (UP)—The military is training specialists for one of the most hazardous profession of arms—defusing atomic bombs or shells which fall to explode.

Since the program started in 1949, a spokesman said in response to questions today, about 2,150 commissioned and non-commissioned officers from the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force have gone through the "special weapons disposal course" conducted by the Navy at Indian Head, Md.

The Pentagon insisted that secrecy prevented any further open discussion of the little-known school.

By Defense Department definition, "special weapons" are nuclear weapons—not including such other unconventional arms as germ warfare equipment.

Legion Commander to Stop Briefly Here Saturday

Department Commander, G. M. "Jerry" LeMay of the American Legion, will make a two day whirlwind tour over a part of Western Arkansas hitting 13 different towns for a coffee stop.

Friday the Commander will leave Fort Smith and make five stops, ending up in Potter that evening with his "Call a Spade a Spade" speech. The stops will include Huntington, Mansfield, Hartford, Waldron, and Mena.

Saturday the Commander and his staff will leave Mena and make nine stops ending up in Magnolia. These stops will include Wickes, De Queen, Locksburg, Nashville, Murfreesboro, Delight, Prescott, Hope, Stamps, and Magnolia, ending his tour at the 13th District Meeting at Stephens Sunday at 2 p. m.

This tour is to meet all the Legions and eternals possible and to carry out his plan of making every stop possible. This tour will include the work and co-ordination of 18 Post Commanders and Adjutants, 5 District Commanders, the two State Vice Commanders, the State Adjutant, and a National Field Representative of the American Legion.

Local Woman Unexpectedly Stricken, Dies

Mrs. Roy Johnson, resident of Hope for many years, was stricken unexpectedly with a heart attack, downtown on South Main Street late Friday and died.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday at the First Presbyterian Church by the Rev. L. T. Lawrence. Burial will be in Rose Hill Cemetery.

She is survived by her husband.

UN, Commie Staff Go Into Secret Meet

By SAM SUMMERIN
PANMUNJOM, (AP)—United States and Communist staff advisers today began secret negotiations aimed at breaking a deadlock which imperils the start of a Korean peace conference.

Two Allied and two Communist advisers conferred for an hour and 40 minutes and agreed to meet again Monday.

Kenneth Young, named by U.S. envoy Arthur Dean for the lower level talks, said after the meeting: "Both sides agreed that until we can report to our representatives we will remain noncommittal in public."

But the South Korean government, which Friday night attacked the secret meetings at Panmunjom, was assured of full information on the sessions from Col. Seoo Young, who will attend as an observer.

4-H Club Winners Are Announced

LITTLE ROCK (AP) The four 4-H club winners who will represent Arkansas in Washington next June were named here today by C. A. Vinco, associate director of the Extension Service.

The state champion boy in leadership is Ed Greenfield, 18, of north Sebastian County, and the state champion girl in leadership is Diane Dameron, 17, of South Logan County.

The two winners for achievements are C. H. Stafford Jr., 19, of Drew County, and Anna Lee Burton, 18, of South Logan County.

The winners will be honored at a banquet here tonight during the two-day state 4-H Congress. Dr. John Tyler Caldwell will be the principal speaker.

Some 600 delegates are expected to attend the meeting which opened today.

Auto Dealer Sentenced

Treadwell was given a one-year suspended sentence. The case against Treadwell grew out of a Highway Audit Commission investigation of irregularities in Highway Department operations.

Worst Wreck I've Worked Officer Says

"Two automobiles collided almost head-on late Friday about two miles east of Emmet on Highway 67, leaving three persons dead and six others in very critical condition."

The dead are: Terry J. Ross, 20, of Arkadelphia, driver of one of the cars;

Ray Newton, about 48, Hope Negro, and Ed Slay, 45, local Negro driver and owner of the second car.

Critically injured were Mrs. Lily Buck Deles, 35, of Arkadelphia, formerly of Gladewater, Texas; and John W. Kaiser, 20, of Arkadelphia; and Warren Powell, 19, of Arkadelphia.

The injured remained in critical condition today in Hope and Prescott hospitals. Mrs. Deles was the only one not considered very critical.

Investigating State Trooper Travis Ward said the accident occurred when one of the cars, apparently traveling very fast, crossed the center stripe on a long, sharp curve and collided almost head-on with the oncoming car.

Ward talked briefly to two of the Negroes before they were taken to a hospital but they could tell him little about the accident. Officer Ward said he would have to investigate further before he could actually report which car crossed the center stripe.

"I will say it's the worst wreck I have ever worked and its a miracle that anyone escaped," Mr. Ward said, indicating that one of the automobiles was really rolling over the Negroes, all members of the Missouri Pacific Railway crew, were returning home from work between Gordon and Arkadelphia.

The woman, Ross and Kaiser were apparently enroute to Arkadelphia. Kaiser formerly lived in Hope.

Kaiser and Mrs. Deles are in a Prospect hospital while the injured Negroes are in local hospitals.

Both cars were completely demolished.

Arkansas New SNAP Official

The publishers reelected Myron Chambers of the Knoxville News-Sentinel as treasurer and Walker C. Johnson of Chattanooga to the position of secretary-manager which he has held for many years.

Elected as directors for three year terms were Sam E. Garhart of the Fayetteville Northwest Arkansas Times, representing Arkansas; Loyal Phillips of the St. Petersburg Independent, representing Florida; Phil Buckhart of the Spartanburg Herald-Journal, for South Carolina; J. W. Mann of the Lexington Herald-Leader, for Kentucky; and James L. Knight, Miami Herald, as a director-at-large.

West Helena Mayor Certified

HELENA (AP)—The Phillips County election Commission today certified West Helena Mayor Jesse E. Porter as having been re-elected.

The commission overruled a petition by E. E. Clark, one of Porter's two opponents in last Tuesday's general election. Clark asked the commission to throw out all votes cast for Porter and to declare him the winner.

Clark, a West Helena liquor dealer, contended that Porter had not paid his poll tax and therefore was not eligible to be a candidate.

The vote was certified by the commission as 650 for Porter, 318 for Clark and 22 for Willie White.

John C. Sheffield, attorney for Clark, said further legal action would be taken in the matter.

Centerville
Mrs. Bob Linaker was hostess to the Centerville Home Demonstration Club, which it met Wednesday, October 28, in her home with Mrs. Guy Linaker as co-hostess.

Mrs. Vernice Goyne, president, was in charge of the meeting. The Home Demonstration Women's Creed was repeated by the group, followed with a song, "Star Spangled Banner." For the devotional, Mrs. Guy Linaker gave an interesting reading on "The Bible, A Guide To Shuners," taken from Matthew 11:28-30, after which she led in prayer.

The roll call was answered by a Sewing Attachment that I had useful.

During the business session, the club discussed and decided that each member bring blocks and washable toys to the November meeting for the Crippled Children's Home in Little Rock. The club also decided to change the meeting day, for December only, to the third Wednesday instead of the fourth.

A poultry report was given by the leader, Mrs. P. F. Campbell. Mrs. Hugh Bearden gave an interesting discussion on how to clean sewing machines. Mrs. D. M. Collier demonstrated on how to iron a shirt in 45 minutes. Mrs. Vernice Goyne drew the surprise package, and several pal gifts were given. Games were led by Mrs. W. C. Beck. Refreshments were served to 14 members and children. The November meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. C. R. Fought.

Gunman Sought in Tampa Shooting

TAMPA, Fla. D — Police today sought a all, nerveless gunman who walked into a bar, drew a .45 calibre pistol and pumped four bullets into Joe Antinori in this city's latest gang style killing.

Police Chief B. F. Roberts said Antinori, 44, a convicted dope smuggler, was standing at the bar yesterday and has just ordered a drink when the gunman walked in, fired and quickly slipped away in the busy business section of Ybor City, Tampa's Latin quarter.

Antinori was released from Leavenworth Penitentiary in 1948 after serving nearly five years for smuggling narcotics from Cuba into the United States.

At the time federal agents testified that Antinori was a member of the gang working for Charles (Lucky) Luciano, vice overlord who was deposed to Italy years ago.

Tampa has had a score of gang most of them tied in with the lottery racket. Few of them have been solved.

DOROTHY DIX

Give Marriage A Chance

Dear Miss Dix: Why do you so often advise unhappy brides of two or three months to seek a solution of their difficulties within their marriages? Don't you think that a marriage which has just begun, and which is already causing unhappiness, is better dissolved? Surely, the sooner the couple involved go their separate ways the better for all concerned. I feel that a marriage which fails to give joy when it is new is doomed to deeper and deeper pain while it continues.

Answer: Our divorce rate is already appallingly high. Can you picture what it would be if every couple rushed to court at the first moment of unhappiness? No one expects every marriage to be blissful. It is, however, in working out discussions, resolving incompatibilities and realizing the joy of mutual consideration that happy marriages are achieved—and all this takes time, not weeks, not months, but years. Marital joy isn't guaranteed at the altar. In fact, the trials and tribulations of wedded life are quite thoroughly brought to the attention of the young couple. Heaven's warnings are not sent to break a marriage, but to give the partners spiritual strength.

Early Discord May Help

Factors that do not make a marriage ultimately unbearable to man or wife do not suddenly appear with in a few months after the ceremony. Such things as physical abuse, nonsupport, flagrant philandering, or chronic alcoholism as minor defects during courtship, they were then overlooked by an indulgent, love-struck sweetheart who was sure her young man would reform. Usually he doesn't but the force of a weakness doesn't strike for many months, or years. The usual run of happiness, dissatisfaction or incompatibility that shows up soon after the wedding bells cease to peal can be overcome by two intelligent, considerate people who are truly with each other. Why, then, should the first breath of discord lead to separation? The early difficulties of marriage are strengthening, rather than weakening, factors.

Dear Miss Dix: Although I'm 16, my mother still thinks I'm too young to know the facts of life. She says she didn't learn these things until she was married, and there's no need for me to be enlightened.

Answer: Your mother seems to be still living in the dark ages, as far as teenagers are concerned. You have undoubtedly managed to pick up quite a bit of information by this time, anyway, but it should have come from your parents. However, I don't think there's much you can do about Mom since you seem unable to talk to her. Mothers who close their ears to their children's confidences, and the youthful need for personal knowledge are doing wrong to themselves, as well as to their children. Someone else will impart the knowledge, and someone else will regret the opportunity she lost to be emotionally close to her children.

Dear Miss Dix: How can I win the interest of a lady I love? The sister of my late wife, and I have never spoken of my feeling.

BERT L.

Answer: Don't sweep her off her feet with a declaration of love until a reasonable period of courting has indicated her feeling. If she accepts your gifts, is pleased to see you when you call and seems to enjoy going out with you, I'd say you had a chance.

King Cummings is dead!

What is the police to think when a New York department store executive falls to his death—and four of his employees had reasons to kill him?

Was it Charlotte Morgan, talented copywriter? Or Eric, the art director who knew all about Charlotte's strange attraction to Cummings—and still loved her? Perhaps Velora, King Cummings' secretary, who knew so much about his past she may have eliminated his future? Or Mario, the freshly-fired ad manager?

You'll be surprised and entertained by the unravelling of this sophisticated, fast-moving mystery as you read...

Cotton Bowl Team to Get $150,000

DALLAS, Tex. — The Cotton Bowl has made no definite move toward getting a visiting team to meet the Southwest Conference champion in the Jan. 1 football game but whatever it is will take home $150,000 for the afternoon work.

The Cotton Bowl will play its all-time high, this amount exceeding the last check by almost $4,000. Each school got $140,492 last Jan. 1.

In the case of the Southwest Conference champion, not all the $150,000 will be taken home. Under new conference rules, the host team receives a flat $50,000 plus $2.50 per mile one-way travel allowance. The remainder will be distributed equally among the seven conference members. This includes the team that a para in the bowl, after the Southwest conference office takes out its operating expenses for the year.

This means the competing Southwest conference school will actually get something more than 70,000. That's a profitable no. Southwest Conference school has to travel far to play in the bowl and its expenses won't be heavy.

In the case of the visiting team, it will have to divvy up according to its conference's rules.

The increased amount was made possible through more revenue from television.

Peacock Retains Bantam Title

OAKLAND, Calif. — Billy Peacock successfully defended his American bantamweight boxing championship last night when Johnny Ortega of Alameda failed to come out for the ninth round in their battle at Oakland Auditorium.

The victory went to the 117-pound Los Angeles fighter after the commission doctor stopped Ortega scheduled 12-round because Ortega had a broken nose.

Ortega at a broken nose was a willing fighter, but couldn't get far with his opponent, who also had a two-inch lip advantage. Peacock scored consistently with left and rights to Ortega's head and body.

The Associated Press score sheet gave Ortega only two rounds.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — What the country's football fans would like to see on their home screens tomorrow more than anything else would be a composite of the Notre Dame, Penn and Minnesota Indiana games.

Specifically, the would like to get a firsthand comparison of the two most talked about backfield stars in the land — Paul Giel of Minnesota and Johnny Lattner of the Irish because by season's end there is going to be one whole of an argument as to which of the All-Americans is the great.

Lattner's team has the more glamorous record, and the 20-year-old senior from Chicago has played a big part in winning the No. 1 national ranking for the Irish, but it would be difficult to convince anyone who watched Giel propel the Gophers to their decisive victory over Pittsburgh last week that Lattner is his superior in any respect.

The Panthers themselves, who can speak with some authority after having faced both men — they lost to Notre Dame 23-14, Minnesota 35-14 — voted almost unanimously for Giel following his one man show against them. They were especially vocal about his elusiveness in an open field, though they did not agree that he struck with more over than Lattner.

Numbers of leading football authorities, including rival coaches, are classing Giel with the best they ever saw after his sensational performances against Michigan and Pittsburgh on successive Saturdays. We have not seen quite such extravagant praise of Lattner, but that there is a good reason for that.

The Irish whopped his three other "one" backs in their with him — Ralph Guglielmi, Neil Warden and Joe Jean. And there are several others nearly as good just behind them. Note Dame's defense is so highly geared it can go without Lattner, as it has proven on occasion both last season and this.

Minnesota, on the other hand, is just another football team when Giel isn't there running or passing or kicking on about two out of three plays. He virtually is the Gopher attack, and so he naturally stands out. There can be no argument at all that he is of great value to Minnesota than Lattner is to Notre Dame, but that doesn't necessarily make him the better player.
